Buy Acreage in Alberta Park

THE Best Buying in Acreage in the Province of Alberta. Blocks facing on Alberta Avenue one mile from the city limits. Located in the direction in which the city is growing most rapidly. Correctly arranged for redivision into city lots.

An Attractive Proposition

Alberta Park has features which will recommend it at once to the intelligent investor. Located within one mile of the city limits, it is certain to come within the scope of residential settlement in a comparatively short time. The trend of development in the city today is west and northwest and Alberta Park lies right in the path of the most rapid extension of the city: Observers who have noticed the advances in property value which have been made in west end suburbs will recognize at once that the continuation of this development is certain to make Alberta Park property very valuable. Groat Estate, Inglewood, North Inglewood and Hempriggs property has increased in value within the past two years by 200 to 500 per cent, and the astute property owners in these sections recognize that the advance has only just commenced. Alberta Park is certain to come within the radius of this advance in the immediate future, and at the price at which it is selling today it offers an absolute certainty of handsome profits.

The Right Time TO BUY

The activity which has set in in the west end makes it certain that this property will be all closed out before many weeks. Already nearly 25 per cent of the property has been sold, and the balance will go very rapidly. The purchasers who get in now have the advantage of the choice of the blocks which are left and still have an opportunity to make a favorable choice.

Remember that the first purchasers in Norwood, Belvedere, Inglewood and practically every subdivision that has ever been put on in Edmonton reaped the big rewards and got the quick profits. Lots in Norwood on First Street which were sold on the first allotment at $120 are being advertised today at $1,450 each. These were first choice lots then and they are first choice now. The blocks in Alberta Park along Alberta Avenue which are being picked up now at $250 to $300 will be first choice a year or two years from now at prices very much in advance of present quotations.

We are so positive that our remedy will permanently relieve constipation, no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish the medicine at our expense should it fail to produce satisfactory results.

It is worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartic drugs. Laxatives or cathartics do more harm than good. They cause a reaction, irritate and weaken the bowels and tend to make constipation more chronic. Be- sides, their use becomes a habit that is dangerous.

Constipation is caused by a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestine or descending colon. To expect permanent relief you must therefore tone up and strengthen these organs and restore them to healthier activity.

MENTAL INFLUENCE

"How far is it to Glenmyle?" we ask of the native who is leaning over the gate.
"Ten miles, straight ahead," he answers.
"But we met a man a little way back, and he said it was only two miles."
"Short, fat man, drivin' a flat-bottomed surrey horse?"
"That's the man."
"Did ye meet him or pass him?"
"We passed him."
"Thought so. He's drivin' a balder I traded him, an' he didn't want his horse to know much fadder it had to go."

Father—Well, he is not a fit person for her to marry. He is as poor as a rat and has no prospects. Something must be done to set her against him.
Mother—I have thought of that and have hit upon what I think is an excellent plan.
Father—Yes? What is it?
Mother—We must tell her that we want her to marry him.

A BENEFACTOR OF INDIA

Sir William Wedderburn Has Made of Hindustan His Life Work.

Sir William Wedderburn, Bart., who presided over the great Indian National Congress at Allahabad, recently, and who on his arrival in Bombay from England was the recipient of a unique, spontaneous ovation, is a former very high official of the Indian Government, and is probably the most popular man of that class among the natives. Sir William in his long official career always showed himself so sympathetically disposed to the individual and communal interests of the natives that they came to regard him as a friend and champion. Other eminent British officials by the hundred have unselfishly devoted their lives to the problem of improving the conditions of the native millions of India; but it was always evident in their cases that the main-spring of their benevolent exertions on behalf of the people of Hindustan was their duty and their desire to render useful service to the Empire. Their efforts have generally excited the admiration, and to some extent the gratitude of the masses of the people; but none of them won their full confidence and affection. Sir William Wedderburn is one of the very few Indian officials who have accomplished that. The average native of India regards Sir William not merely as an official benefactor of his race, but as a lover of it. As a native to whom the personal and racial interests of the Hindus are precious for their own sakes, apart altogether from national considerations. Some British officials, during his tenure of office in the East, accused Sir William of undue partiality to the Hindu religion and prejudices of people of India, and consequently of encouraging the spirit of racial nationalism and unrest. He is that as he may, the fact remains that he is deeply beloved by our dusky fellow subjects in the Indian empire. When he landed at Bombay on his way to Allahabad, he was most enthusiastically received by the leading people of the city, and the Indian States, and all along the three miles of the line of route through the native town the whole Indian population lined the streets.

A young husband, finding that his pretty but extravagant wife was considerably exceeding their joint income, said to her, "I have a little account book, nicely bound, and looking very attractive. This I present to you, together with a hundred dollars." "Now, my dear," he said, "I want you to put down what I give you on this side, and on the other side you put down the way it goes, and in a fortnight I will give you another supply." A couple of weeks later, he asked for the book. "Oh, I have kept the account all right," said his wife, proudly, "but I have not yet begun to use it." "Received from Alex. and hundred dollars," was on the one page, and on the other page was inscribed: "Received from Alex. and hundred dollars." "That is the comprehensive little summary," "Spent it all."

In a breach of promise case, the barrister who held the brief for injured beauty, arranged that his client should be so shrewd that her counsel should be well under the observation of the jury. He began a most pithy appeal by directing their attention to her beauty, and calling for justice upon the head of him who could so wantonly and betray the confidence of one so fair, concluding with a peroration of such pathos as to melt the court in tears. The counsel for the defendant then rose, and after paying the lady the compliment of admitting that it was impossible not to assent to her beauty, he proceeded to state that the enormous lavished upon her face, he added that nevertheless he felt bound to ask the jury not to forget the fact that she was a woman leg. Then he sat down. The important fact, of which the fair plaintiff's counsel was unaware, was, presently established; and the jury, feeling rather sheepish at their tears, assessed damages at the smallest amount.

VARIOUS USES OF HOMING PIGEONS

How the Birds are Trained and Why They Unfailing Cross Land and Water to Get Home.

New York, Feb. 17.—For centuries good and bad news, prayers for help, secrets of state, tidings of war's victories and defeats have been sent under a victor's wing. Egyptian records show that they were used in the hands of the Pharaohs thirteen centuries before Christ. Ovid tells that they carried the news of the Olympic games to the distant friends and relatives of the victors.

First-class carrier pigeons are very expensive, some "stud" birds costing as much as $200, and they can attain the remarkable speed of nearly 1,500 miles a minute. The birds were trained all along the coast and intercommunication between dockyards was maintained by this means.

A few years ago the Japanese government obtained all possible information on the subject of pigeon breeding and purchased a large number of birds from English fanciers. Although Italy belongs the credit of having first recognized the utility of training pigeons as messengers of war, France, Germany, Russia and Denmark were not slow to take advantage of this mode of sending news in time of strife.

It was during the Franco-German war that pigeons proved their utility as government letter carriers. When Paris was invested by the enemy and all the ordinary channels of communication with the outside world were cut off the admirals of the navy and the government were directed to the fact that the carrier pigeons in the city could be brought into service. At first the system was rudimentary, but the practicability of the plan was soon demonstrated and in a very short time birds were conveying news into and out of the besieged city almost hourly.

Used in S. A. War

During the South African war, when

Sir George White was beleaguered at Ladysmith, a few pigeons belonging to English fanciers which had been taken into the town before the siege proved of inestimable value to the gallant commander in conveying messages to the base at Durban.

The organization of pigeon posts for military purposes in Germany is of an extremely practical character. In addition to the various government lots in the fortresses and at important strategic points most of the homing clubs place their birds in case of need at the disposition of the state, and in return for this same protection is afforded to their pigeons as to those which are the property of the government. They leave the official mark and it is a criminal offence to trap or shoot them or detain them should they stray into a private loft.

A Manchester firm of mill owners is reported to be possessed of a pigeon which has been employed as a messenger from one mill to another for over ten years. During that period it has made over 2,000 journeys and travelled over 20,000 miles. It is calculated that to have sent the messages by wire would have cost $1,500.

Have Great Speed

Homing pigeons are not only endowed with marvellous speed, but with great endurance. A few years ago a bird belonging to the late King Edward, who was a great pigeon enthusiast, as is King George, won the national race from Liverpool, covering 616 miles at a velocity of 1,307 yards a minute.

This stands in the records of the English flying club as one of the best performances ever accomplished in connection with its races. The speed naturally depends largely on atmospheric conditions. With a strong wind behind a speed of 1,000 yards a minute is fairly common. Whether pigeons return to their homes by means of sight or instinct is a disputed point, but as long as life lasts the bird will seek to reach home.

Nothing could more forcibly bring to the attention of the public the lack of attention which the resources of this province get from the department of the interior at Ottawa than this proposition of the Edmonton Heating and Power Company to build and sell an electric plant to the city, together with all the rights which the company holds on the Saskatchewan.

The company claims to have at the Rocky Rapids what is practically the only feasible power site within any reasonable distance of Edmonton.

This power site having been acquired from the Dominion government under the regulations now in force, the company opens negotiations with the city. The first thing the city wants to know is, how many power sites are available, where are they and what do they amount to. Also the city would like to have some official information about the power possibilities of the site which the company has acquired. The city finds that there is no information in the hands of the government about the power possibilities of the rivers and streams of Alberta, and if the city wants to know what power is available it must find out for itself.

If the claim which is advanced by the company is correct, that they have a power site which will develop 30,000 horse power and that it is practically the only feasible one on the river, then the company has been handed over by the Ottawa administration a resource of immense value, and just at a time when the city was in the search for a power site itself.

It certainly looks most unreasonable that the city should be subjected to the necessity of doing its own exploring in order to get information about the power possibilities and it looks quite as unreasonable that owing to the lack of this information a private company should be able to jump in ahead of the city and acquire what is possibly the only power site which would suit the city's purpose.

In view of the fact that the power resources of the country belong to the people as a whole and that the part of the people who could use the potential power of the Saskatchewan are the people of Edmonton, a regulation which permits a private company to acquire a power record which it is patent that the city might need, without the city first having the refusal of the site, is so manifestly a bad regulation that it bears its own condemnation on its face.

The city's experience in the present case proves as conclusively as it could be proven that the arrangement by which the water powers and other natural resources of the country are handled from Ottawa is altogether wrong, and an arrangement which is certain to cause the people of this province untold vexation and annoyance in days to come.

Alberta's demand that the resources of the country be handed over to the province is not a theoretical reform, the outgrowth of some academic theory, but a practical reform, the necessity of which is apparent in the everyday business of the country.

A new liability has attached to railway companies by a judgment arrived at in a Nelson court the other day when the Clarkson Lumber Company got judgment against the Nelson and Fort Sheppard railway for damages caused by a forest fire which it is claimed was started by sparks from a locomotive. The amount of the damage has not been fixed, but the lumber company claims something over half a million dollars.

Huge losses by forest fires have been charged against the railways in British Columbia in times past, but this is probably the first case where the company was held directly responsible, and mulcted for the damages.

Clifford Sifton not so long ago said that in his opinion the railway companies were responsible for about 90 per cent. of the forest fires in the railway belt, and that they should be made to pay the damage.

If the amount of the loss through forest fires between the prairies and the Pacific Coast were charged up to the railway companies, all the railways in the mountains would not be of sufficient value to meet the cost.

Surely there is something decidedly wrong in this Farmer's Bank case and certainly there must be a whole lot of miscreants at large who should be breaking rock in the penitentiary.

LIKE PLOT FROM MEDIEVAL ROMANCE. The spectacle of Traverse being rushed back to the penitentiary, between adjournments, where he could not talk, and Traverse's latest charge that he was threatened with another ten or twenty years on his sentence if he did not quit giving evidence, makes the whole thing shape up more like a medieval plot from some fertile novelist's brain than the kind of thing one might expect from the financial annals of staid old Toronto.

Undoubtedly there is a whole lot more to the Farmers' Bank case than has ever yet come out and the easy way in which Dr. Beattie Nesbitt made his escape, together with the fact that it was weeks after the case was started before any warrants were issued, makes it look as though there are many friends of the wrong-doers in positions of power. Certainly the way Travers was bundled about by the authorities indicates that some part of the machinery which should be promoting the enforcement of the law is working to exactly opposite ends.

"THIS IS MY BIRTHDAY"

Earl Beauchamp
Earl Beauchamp, First Commissioner of Works in the British Cabinet, was born February 20, 1872, and succeeded his father, the sixth Earl, in 1891. The following year he married Lady Lettice Grosvenor, daughter of the late Earl Grosvenor, and sister of the present Duke of Westminster. He was educated at Eton and Christ Church, Oxford, and when he was only twenty-three years old was elected mayor of Worcester. He has held office of one sort or another almost continually ever since then. For two years he was a member of the London School Board and from 1899 to 1901 he was Governor of New South Wales. In 1906 he was appointed Captain of the Corps of Gentlemen-at-Arms, and in 1907 became Steward of King Edward. Before his appointment to his present office he served as Lord President of the council.

FEDERAL TROOPS LOST HEAVILY

MEXICAN TROOPS RETREAT TO OJINAGA AFTER BATTLE IN WHICH THEY LOST TWENTY.

Maria, Tex., Feb. 20.—Delayed advices received here to-day clear up suspense over results of the fighting between rebels and federals around Mulafo. The last word received last week told federal reverses in an assault upon rebel lines at Mulafo. It is learned now that the tide of battle remained the same, with the result that the federals retreated to Ojinaga, their base of supplies. The insurgents were unable to check Luque's retreat. Their supply of ammunition was exhausted. The federal loss was forty killed and wounded.

THEY CLIMBED TO SNOWY HEIGHTS

BRITISH COLUMBIA MOUNTAINEERING CLUB HOLD HIGH JINKS ON GROUSE MOUNTAIN.

Vancouver, Feb. 20.—The British Columbia Mountaineering Club had an outing, beginning Saturday and ending last night, which will long be remembered by the members who were fortunate enough to attend the festivities. The outing consisted of a trip to the club's cabin on the slope of Grouse mountain, 2,300 feet above sea level. Fifty-one members made the trip, and 43 remained in the cabin over night, of these being lady members. A volume might be written about the obstacles overcome and the hardships endured on the trip through many feet of snow and the effects of a devouring storm; of the comforts experienced when the cabin was reached and the thawing out process began to send life and animation through exhausted muscles; of the unequalled joy attending the banquet board, which was spread with all the luxuries of a mountain retreat, from crisp appetizing bacon to well browned and steaming-hot hams.

And then the fun and frolic of the evening around a roaring fire; the out-stirring situations portrayed by the amateur theatrical talent of the club in the presentation of an original tragedy embodying the best efforts of Ellen Terry, Sarah Bernhardt, Reinhold Tree, Edwin Booth, and McCallum in their palmiest days. The situation was all of sex, fear and deep, and the settings were in keeping with those magnificent proportions. The effect of the mountain production can be better imagined than described.

In the morning ten of the hardest members of the club made a snowshoe trip to the summit of the mountain, and here some real hardships were encountered. A blinding storm was encountered and it took a measure of pluck and endurance to make an elevation of 1,200 feet and return in safety to the cabin. The British Columbia Mountaineering Club is steadily increasing in membership, and bids fair in the scope of its explorations to rival the famous Mazama club. Some members make a trip to the cabin at every week-end, but a party of the proportions of yesterday's meet is rather a rare occurrence during the winter months.

TOO MUCH GUN PLAY IN N.Y. STATE

MANY HOMICIDES BY SHOOTING AND ASSAULT MAY TAKE ACTION.

New York, Feb. 20.—"Pistol-flopping," popularly supposed to reach its finest flower in Kentucky, is one of the greatest menaces right here in New York State. In fact, the evil has reached such proportions here that a strong effort will be made to have the New York Assembly pass a law restricting the sale of firearms. George Pitti Ledruan, a clerk in the Coroner's office, is pushing the proposed legislation, which if adopted, he says, will greatly decrease acts of violence, in which firearms play a part.

State Senator Timothy D. Sullivan is fathering in the Assembly the movement for doing away with the indiscriminate carrying of pistols. He favors a law making it a prison offence to carry concealed weapons.

Nothing has so impressed the public as to the needs of such legislation as the recent lamentable killing of David Graham Phillips, the novelist, by an armed crazy man.

During 1910, according to figures in the Coroner's office, there were 2,483 violent deaths in this city. The annual report of the office declares that "the increase of homicides by shooting indicates the urgent necessity of the proper authorities taking severe measures for the regulation of the sale of guns and carrying of firearms."

There were 108 homicides by shooting in the city in 1910, an increase of 18 over 1909. A surprising feature in connection with these deaths was that out of 79 persons arrested for homicide, 38 were Americans born, 22 were Italians, 9 were Chinese and the other ten were of various nationalities. The opinion of opinion has been that most of the crime of the city was perpetrated by the foreign-born element, which were well maintained and ruled as

MAYORALTY FIGHT IN THE 'WINDY CITY'

PROMISES TO BE ONE OF THE STIF-FEST CAMPAIGNS CITY HAS EVER WITNESSED.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 20.—One of the liveliest mayoralty campaigns that Chicago has seen in years entered upon the whirlwind stage today, with but one week remaining before the election of the two parties are chosen and the direct primaries. The election will take place early in April.

The primaries are attracting a vast amount of public attention. The candidate favored by the Republican organization is John P. Thompson. He sides him the two strongest Republican candidates are John P. Sullivan, who has long been a prominent figure in Republican city politics, and Alderman Charles E. Merriam, who has a professor in the University of Chicago and a writer on political science. As head of the so-called Merriam coalition he laid bare the graft in the city administration and brought about the removal of several city officials.

The Democratic contest brings to life the old rivalry between former Mayor Carter H. Harrison and former Mayor Edward P. Dunne. Mr. Harrison, who was mayor for several terms, following in the footsteps of his father, is again a candidate on an independent Democratic ticket.

Ex-Mayor Dunne's campaign has the support of public attention. The candidate favored by the Republican organization is John P. Thompson. He sides him the two strongest Republican candidates are John P. Sullivan, who has long been a prominent figure in are facing up and down with gun in hand ready to bring down a charge of fortune who may be filled with an unquenchable thirst for smoke of battle. But that in the bottom of their hearts Uncle Sam's soldier boys sympathize with the insurgents in the reverse ratio that they despise the dir-ty jobbers who wear the tattered federal uniform.

It's easy to get across. "Whenever a bunch of men want to join the revolutionaries they walk across the river bank to a spot where the wading is good. One makes a pretense of trying to cross right near the guard. Naturally the guard has to stop him, and a funny mock quarrel takes place, during which the rest of the bunch calmly walk across a few hundred feet away.

The condition of the American mind in all the country line is remarkable. It is unanimous for an insurrection.

It's a personal affliction to every resident of El Paso when anything goes wrong with the insurgents. One day failed to prevent Robago from bringing troops to relief of Juarez, and American insurgents looked very serious.

Americans Enjoying It.

Then two days later Orozco jumped out with a few men and drove an attacking party of federal soldiers back into their barracks and American insurgents were happy again.

Since then the American band of the Rio Grande has been lunching and dining with Americans in automobiles, carriages, on motor-cycles, on foot and in street cars, who sympathize openly with the revolutionists. Orozco men came in steady streams down to the river to water horses, good horses, too—and fill their canteens. Americans throw tobacco, packages of groceries and whole hams over to them.

Keeping a steady watch for two hours the writer saw nine American soldiers with the insurgents. One hundred goats were driven down to the river bank for water by 11 of Orozco's men. Two of them were Americans, boys of 18 or 19.

Gave Him The High Sign.

"What are you doing over there?" called out an American from the Texas side.

"Viva Madero!" yelled one of the American good drivers, a tall, slim boy, dressed in good blue clothes, and he laughed heartily. He carried a short carbine, such as the rurales are armed with, high over his head. And he patted his saddle and horse's neck to indicate that his whole outfit was captured from a Mexican regular, presumably dead. I started for the Orozco camp to find more Americans and succeeded in crossing the suspension foot bridge below the Portland cement works only after a deal of palaver with an American soldier, but he was a good fellow.

Orozco doesn't Work.

Orozco with 500 or 600 men was found less than half a mile from the river and less than three miles from Ciudad Juarez, which is convincing proof that Orozco doesn't much fear the federales.

Here I met several more Americans. Two of them would talk, and forgetting himself, one American called the other Bill. But with a nod of the head and a reminder that it were unsafe to mention names under the circumstances, Bill slipped away.

And the Rurales Beat It.

The two boys wandered away to take a position on a tall peak to watch for possible advancing federales. Ten minutes later three mounted rurales were seen in a canyon. They were accurate. The two young Americans fired and the rurales disappeared quicker than it can be written.

Orozco's camps are here today and another place tomorrow. He has no tents, and as the weather here is considerably too warm in middle of day for comfort, he doesn't need them, for it never rains. His camp can always be located near the river.

DOES ASQUITH ASPIRE TO THE WOOLSAK? IS THE QUESTION

THE LORDS' VETO BILL LIKELY TO PASS—POLITICAL EVENTS CAST KING'S OPENING OF PARLIAMENT
INTO SHADE—ASQUITH DESIRES WOOLSAK

London, Eng., Feb. 18.—[By parliament just opened the public is of course eagerly taken up with the political prospects, for all agree that compared to the political events which are expected to happen in 1911, the Coronation, strange as it may seem, dwindles into comparative insignificance, except possibly to our American visitors, who come to see it as they go to Barnum & Bailey's.]

Prospects are that in spite of all Tory assertions of disinterest in the government, Mr. Asquith will have a much more modern and liberal constitution before the end of the year.

One of the younger members of the government assured me just before the opening of parliament that never has the cabinet been more solidly united than at present, and what means a death blow to all Tory hopes the Irish party are acting in perfect accord with the cabinet, serene in the confidence that Home Rule is coming and that the passing of the veto bill is a necessary preliminary to it.

One of the radical members of the government party would rather see discarded, even those members now agree that as the recent elections were fought on the basis of Home Rule, the preamble as the chief issue it would be a tactical mistake of the government to leave out the preamble now, as this would be the government on the charge of deceiving the voters.

Redmond and his party, indeed, do not care very much whether the House of Lords is reformed or not, but Tories hope that the Labor party will vote against the preamble and the parliament bill thus lost, but I am convinced that the leaders of the Labor party will see that this would mean a victory for the Lords, and will vote with the government.

With unity and control in the Liberal ranks the parliament bill should be passed by the House of Commons before Easter, and the whole constitutional crisis settled before the coronation.

As to what will happen after the coronation, Mr. Asquith has been successfully advised by the Liberal government all kinds of rumors are afloat. Time and again it is asserted that when Mr. Asquith has carried through his program he will feel that he has done his duty to his country, and will turn over the leadership to one of the younger men of the cabinet, either Churchill or Lloyd-George, who with greater energy will be able to carry on the banner of political progress.

Mr. Asquith would then probably retire to the Woolsock, as it is quite well known that he has quite the same predilection for the position of Lord Chancellor, as the late Campbell-Bannerman had for the speakership.

That he would make a satisfactory occupant of the Woolsock goes without saying. Mr. Asquith's ability would, in fact, be seen probably to greater advantage in the penultimate position of our legal system and in the control of debates of a Second Chamber—he is Lord or Senator—than as a party leader. To a man of such great characteristics, as a logician and clear unbiased thinker it is inevitable that such should be the case.

Meanwhile the present occupant, Lord Halsbury, the "Bobby Bult" of olden days, sits tight with a smiling face. He knows very well indeed that Tories hope that the Labor party will vote against the preamble and the parliament bill thus lost, but I am convinced that the leaders of the Labor party will see that this would mean a victory for the Lords, and will vote with the government.

MASSACRED BY HOSTILE INDIANS

NEVADA FARMERS CAUGHT IN STORM MURDERED WHILE THEY SHELTERED.

Steno, Nev., Feb. 18.—News of an Indian massacre in which four wealthy stockmen were victims, reached here today. The victims, all white, bodies were found in Little Rock canyon, near Queen River, Cal., had been missing since Jan. 16, when they went out to look for stock in a storm-washed region.

They were Harry Cambren, John Lax-gane, B. Indiana and P. Eramusque.

When the continued absence of the four men made it certain that evil had befallen them, searching parties went out Wednesday from Grantsville, Cal., and yesterday, in the remote canyon they came upon the bodies. All the blankets and provisions of the murdered men had been taken, and from the character of their wounds, there was little doubt that Indians had done the killing.

This supposition was made certain when ranchmen in the vicinity were questioned. They declared that a band of nine hostile Indians had recently been in the vicinity, but had departed, leaving warnings that they were not to be followed on pain of death.

Immediately the murders were discovered, a posse was organized and at once took the trail of the hostiles.
Messengers were also dispatched to send telegrams to all towns within the region warning their sheriffs to be on the lookout for them. Although the hostiles have a good lead, the size of their band makes it almost certain that the frontiersmen in pursuit will be able to keep their trail and a pitched battle is certain.

U.S. CITIZENS WILL HELP MEXICANS

UNITED STATES SOLDIERS CANNOT KEEP THEM FROM JOINING BORN

El Paso, Texas, Feb. 18.—If Uncle
Sam thinks he is preventing anybody
from hopping over the boundary line and landing full square in the camps of the insurgents with food, guns and ammunition he is a sadly mistaken man.

To be sure he is patrolling his side of the shallow Rio Grande; army men are patrolling up and down with gun

in hand ready to bring down a charge of fortune who may be filled with an unquenchable thirst for smoke of battle. But that in the bottom of

THE AMERICAN FACE BECOMES CHIC AMONG THE MEN OF THE BOULEVARDS

THE BEARD AND MOUSTACHE NO LONGER CHIC IN PARIS—THE FRENCH STYLE OF BEAUTY IS NOT SUITED TO A CLEAN SHAVE

Paris, Feb. 18.—When the French
having nothing else to do they pass
the time in abusing Americans, whom they accuse of all kinds of crimes against "la grande nation." If we are to believe the French, Americans are
to believe the French, Americans are
to blame if the French nation is decadent, Americans are responsible for the gradual disappearance of politeness in France; they have introduced check-knives, crackers and shoes. But all these crimes are forgotten in the cry which is going up from the women of France against
"the American face." The women here love whiskers, soft and well-trimmed brown blond or black, and they hate the smooth-shaven face of the average American fillet with disgust.
They have found a worthy exponent of their indignation in St. Michel Zannacchi.

Neither beard nor moustache, says this "spiritual" writer is the device of the genuine Yankee for, from the American point of view, everything condemns the hirsute countenance. For the American, essentially practical and positive, the beard and moustaches are superfluous growths. In the opinion of Uncle Sam, ornaments are as useless
on the face as on the facade.

He shaves the one and even levels up the other. No favorites, no hilly coils, no Dundreary whiskers on the foreman; no mouldings, carvings or festoons on the latter. "A face should only contain eyes, nostrils and a mouth; faces and whiskers are both meant to be useful. Besides, a beard means their faces require delicate and constant attention. They must be cut and trimmed, combed and dressed, and all that takes time—time that might be devoted to business. Therefore the American razor suppresses brutally and imperatively all excuse for festivities idling in the course of the toilet.

The American business man has further discovered that the moustache is an obstacle to the perfect execution of the voice, especially when using the telephone, and that the beard is a dead weight and profitless. In verbal discussions the beard is useless and useless business; it cannot but be hurtful to volubility and articulation. The moustache is a filler which retards the issue of the decisive word, which mistakes and deforms them in their passage
—in a word, increases the likelihood of ambiguity and confusion.

All these motives for passing sentence of death on the hair of the vis-age have long seemed puerile to Frenchmen. For years the American habit of shaving the upper lip, the cheeks and the chin has been looked upon in France as nothing more than theological curiosity.

Traditionally, the American must be "glabre," just as the Norwegian must be fair and very shaggy, the Chinese must have a pointed beard and the negro woolly-haired. What would the cartoonist do if they had not this infallible characteristic?—in leading an American, millionaire, a tin king, or an emperor in molasses? But despite the grand tradition of "Americanism" in all its varied forms, Frenchmen
had turned a deaf ear—or, shall I say, an unresponsive cheek—to the indignities of the safety razor. According to their fancy—and at times
they were very fancy—some of the sons of the sister republic plausibly and patriotically held on to their ancient fallo moustaches and their flowing beards. Only conditions forced a razor on their faces as a rule, in order that they might the more easily slick on the hair. As for moustaches, amirals, waiters, and domestics, they made up for the absence of hair from their 1911 faces by a wealth of faded and "coquette."

But this spirit of national independence, no less fatal to disguise
"Shobisme," the spirit of imitation,
the necessity of applauding and adopting everything that comes from outside, everything new and exotic, all these sentiments which create the fashion, ended by inducing Frenchmen to smear their faces over with soap and appear with chins and cheeks which looked as if they had been rubbed with one or two, who passed for "des centimentes"—to-day their number is small. The "American face" has triumphed, it has been declared "chic" and what is "non-chic," and we the humiliates of the race, the children of a commoner city, have only an acquiescence and look pleasant.

The contagion, I learn, is spreading every day with incredible rapidity, and Paris is threatened with a veritable epidemic of "glabrety." Whether the new fashion has come to stay is doubtful. The French are an artistic people, and it must be conceded that the plain face, the common-place face
can frequently be rendered almost cool-
looking by a beard and moustache, which most French faces must have,
or you simply cannot bear to look at them.

MIX CHINESE AND CANADIAN EGGS

SIX OR SEVEN THOUSAND EGGS
FROM ORIENT GO INTO COOL
STORAGE IN VANCOUVER.

Vancouver, Feb. 19.—Between six and seven thousand cases containing approximately $40,000 Oriental eggs were landed in this city on Feb. 3, and are now in cold storage, ready to be served to the Vancouver public mixed with Canadian eggs, according to a prominent civic official, who stated this morning that he was making an examination of quantities of the hen product taken from the cold storage plant.
On just what boat the eggs arrived was not prepared to say. So far his examination has not revealed any "ripe" fruit, the eggs having been kept in cold storage on the boat and later transferred to similar quarters in the city.

"While there is no particular objection to the eggs themselves," commenting on the matter, "there is a possibility that they may be old, and to guard against passing these on the public riculous enquirers will be made as to who are responsible for the disposition of this cargo. The great danger to publicity that eggs placed in storage for transit are afterwards allowed to remain in normal temperatures for considerable time before being transferred to refrigerators. This occasions deterioration and mold and leaves the eggs unfit for consumption.

The eggs in question may be distinguished from the ordinary variety by their color, which is a dark khaki brown, and by the particularly thick, firm shell, which is due to the great quantity of lime and other ingredients of the soil of the Orient.
In size these foreign products are much the same as the home article.

REPORTED PLOT TO GET BANFORD

CALGARY PLAYERS ARE ALLEGED TO HAVE STATED THEY WOULD GET GORDON BANFORD EARLY IN GAME TONIGHT—DEACONS ARE IN PINK OF CONDITION—WILL HAVE PRACTISE TODAY.

Calgary, Feb. 19 (Special to the Capital).—That a clique of the Calgary players is going to lay for Gordon Banford in to-night's game is a report that circulated among the fans here yesterday. Banford's brilliant playing on the wing against the Taber team last Thursday has led the players of the St. Mary's team to believe that he is the man to be feared and it is alleged that certain players have openly stated that they are going to get him early in the game.

In spite of the somewhat severe defeat inflicted upon the Edmonton Taber team last Friday night, the St. Mary's recognize that they will have to go the limit to pull out a win. The playing of the Deacons' forward line and the lightning rushes of Banford was a revelation to the opponents who are depending on their heavy defence to hold the game in hand.

On the other hand the Deacons will be short Bill Banford at point, in that position is a lower of strength to the team and his ability to break up rushes brought him conspicuously before the Calgary fans in the Taber-Edmonton game. It is not known yet who will take his place on the defence. There were some 1,300 fans at the game with the Calgary A. G. team last Friday and it is expected that there will be fully 2,000 out to-night.

The whole Edmonton team had a work out Saturday morning. The play was fast and the boys seem none the worse of their hard games on the two previous days. There will be another practice to-morrow morning.

The team has now been on the Calgary rink four times and is quite familiar with the strange ice so that they ought to play a much better game than they did against Taber when they first arrived in the city last Thursday.

So far as the arrangements have been made for the second game of the Edmonton championship it will be played in Edmonton within a few days. In all probability the Calgary team will have a much better chance than they did in their first game.

On the other hand the Deacons will be short Bill Banford at point, in that position is a lower of strength to the team and his ability to break up rushes brought him conspicuously

LACROSSE TEAM WILL ORGANIZE

EDMONTON LACROSSE PLAYERS WILL ORGANIZE NEW TEAM TO ENTER PROVINCIAL LEAGUE—PROSPECTS FOR SEASON ARE BRIGHT—MANY PLAYERS IN THE CITY—CHANCES FOR AN ALBERTA LEAGUE.

After three years without lacrosse Edmonton is on the verge of being ready for a team this year. There was a time when the great Canadian summer game was popular in Alberta but the day seems to be past. However the love of the Indian game may be revived this year.

Such towns as the following can easily support a team: Calgary, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, High River, Red Deer, Strathcona, Edmonton and perhaps Medicine Hat. They all used to have good teams and they have all grown since that time so they all ought to have better teams than they did when the game was in a flourishing condition in Alberta.

If the league could be organized and run after the fashion of the provincial football league, it would work out splendidly. The expenses would be small and the games would be good.

There is still a good bunch of men available in Edmonton, many of the old ones still being here and a lot of new blood has come to the city. If somebody will get busy good and early and get the club organized and the practices started the game will be well on the way to a successful summer.

The visit of Joe Lally to the west last summer has had a decidedly good effect on the game. In Winnipeg they are talking lacrosse and there will be a new league organized there this spring if times go the way the lacrosse maniacs want them to go. Lally is doing all he can to boost the game in the west. He realizes that the game that once was the most popular in Canada is dropping out of the public interest and must be given a strong boost to be kept alive.

About the only place in Canada that the game is really played for the love of it is in Vancouver, New Westminster and Victoria. There all the kids carry a stick to school with them and toss a ball around on the corner lot between lessons. That is as it should be. Let it be so in Alberta.

McCLOSKEY SAYS MONTANNA CLUBS HAVE MADE DEPOSIT WITH UNION

Holder of Butte Franchise States Alberta Cities Have No Chance of Organizing International League—Six Cities in Association Have Paid Guarantee Deposit—Winnipeg Will be Stung—President Eckstorm's Side of the Dispute Presented.

Salt Lake City, Boise, Missoula, Helena and Great Falls have now made their guarantee deposits in the Union Association and there is no chance of Lethbridge, Calgary and Edmonton being taken into an international league this year. This is the information contained in a letter received this morning from the Union Association.

President John J. McCloskey, of the Union Association, says the new league has a reasonable salary limit and with a general admission fee of fifty cents, and good terms to furnish the entertainment it ought to be a success. It is possible that some of the towns that were hankering back were hastened into line by the knowledge that Lethbridge, Calgary and Edmonton were league prospects.

The last letter Mr. McCloskey wrote when he last repudiated is still fresh in the memory of Edmonton people. Whether or not this is another attempt to play both ends from the middle is not perfectly clear. Perhaps he thinks the efforts of the Alberta cities to get the Montana towns to join them is making too much of a fuss. The Union Association and its president have been away for a long time making their own money. It is not likely that Mr. McCloskey is getting in bad all the way round.

However, it is not likely that he would have the nerve to run such a colossal bluff as that and the probabilities are that the cities named have put up their deposits with the league.

That Mr. Eckstorm did his best to get the international organized is perfectly clear. He came in for some criticism for not calling the meeting in Winnipeg, but it appears to be clear that he could not do so by the minutes of the meeting held in Calgary, that he could not do so until all the clubs had put up their deposits. This had not been done.

According to the minutes of the Calgary meeting, in the presence of Mr. Eckstorm, any meeting held in Winnipeg without his sanction would be certainly invalid in official significance. The president of the league did not call the proposed meeting in Winnipeg between the 8th and the 15th.

SPORTING COMMENT ON LIVE NEWS

INTIMIDATION IS BAD TACTICS

The report contained in a despatch from Calgary last night that a clique of the players on the St. Mary's team is going to lay for an Edmonton player is a bad reflection on amateur sport in Alberta. The Alberta Amateur Hockey Association has had quite a big bunch of trouble already this season and it seems unfortunate that players on a team that has not been in any mix up in that unfortunate affair should make attempts calculated to intimidate a player on the opposing team. That they would endeavor to carry out their threat is of course absurd but that they should make it is bad enough.

The St. Mary's have a good reputation as a hockey team. They have always played a clean game and although the rough house which the Calgary Athletics adopted earlier in this season made it necessary that they also should learn to play a rough, hard game, they have never used it except to defend themselves against similar tactics by an opposing team.

The Deacons have a reputation for clean hockey and they will sustain it fully to-night.

BASEBALL SITUATION IS FINE MESS

The baseball situation is a nice mess now. If as is stated in McCloskey's letter to Mr. Fraser, the Montana towns have deposited their guarantee to the Union Association, it looks as though all chances for the international have fallen through. However, McCloskey's last letter proved to have been a bluff on the part of Mr. McCloskey. He repudiated the letter later. Perhaps he will repudiate this one also.

Mr. McCloskey is scarcely likely to run a bluff of such a colossal nature as he could imagine this to be, that he was endeavoring to shove the Alberta teams away by making them think there was no chance of the Montana clubs being in the Union for keeps.

If McCloskey's statements are true it looks very much as though Edmonton would not be in any league next summer. Winnipeg has a fair chance of getting into an international league—a much bigger chance than either Edmonton or Calgary ever had—and they can get into it if they will desert the old four-club league to form which an effort is being made by some of the clubs.

Unless the old eight-club Western Canada League should be re-suscitated Lethbridge will certainly be without baseball this year and Mr. Eckstorm without a job.

AN INTERVIEW WITH MRS. BROWN

Following are some of the choice bits taken from an interview with Mrs. Brown, mother of the author, in one year, my boy has dropped $2,000 in my apron. I give him $2 a week to spend. We do not keep her in the house. She is a housewife. I do not worry when he is fighting. I know he will win. I sit up for him, and as soon as the debt is over he runs home and gives me the money. For his first debt he got $2, but he has brought home as much as $800 in one night since.

B. A. COMMENCE TRAINING TRIP

Boston Americans Yesterday Started Longest Training Expedition Ever Undertaken—Forty People

Boston, Mass., Feb. 18.—The vanguard of players of the Boston American League team, accompanied by club officials and others, numbering in all nearly forty persons, started from this city this afternoon on a spring training trip that has never been approached in the completeness of its arrangements, the distance travelled, the comforts provided for the players and the expense of the undertaking. Half a dozen other players will join the party in New York to-morrow and the rest of the team will follow in due course, from which city the whole delegation will start westward in the "Red Sox Special" next Monday.

The objective point will be Redondo Beach, near Los Angeles, where the players will begin their first work-out in preparation for the long series of exhibition games, which will be played during the stops of the return journey. On March 26 the team will divide into two squads, one of which will return east, over the northern route and the other over the southern route. The first squad will play exhibition games in Reno, Salt Lake City, Grand Junction, Pueblo, Denver, Lincoln, Omaha, Sioux City and Chicago. The second team will fill dates in Yuma, Tucson, El Paso, Oklahoma City, El Reno, Wichita, Topeka, St. Joseph and Kansas City.

The special train will carry approximately seventy-five persons on its long journey across the continent. It will be the most luxuriously equipped and decorated train that has ever served to carry a party of baseball men in this or any other country. The trip will occupy eight weeks and will cost not far from $15,000.

Jack O'Connor, ex-player of the Browns, is going west to take charge of a team in the new Union League.

Julia Murphy has the training grounds at Marin, Texas, in great shape, and is awaiting the arrival of the Giants.
